

process control in spinning pdf

Spinning is the twisting together of drawn-out strands of fibers to form yarn, and is a major part of the textile industry. The yarn is then used to create textiles, which are then used to make clothing and many other products. There are several industrial processes available to spin yarn, as well as hand-spinning techniques where the fiber is drawn out, twisted, and wound onto a bobbin

Spinning (textiles) - Wikipedia

Spinning is an ancient textile art in which plant, animal or synthetic fibres are drawn out and twisted together to form yarn. For thousands of years, fibre was spun by hand using simple tools, the spindle and distaff. It was only with the invention of the spinning wheel in India, and its subsequent introduction to Europe in the High Middle Ages, that the output of individual spinners ...

Hand spinning - Wikipedia

The classification of spinning into conventional spinning, shear spinning and tube spinning is widely accepted. However, the only formal standard classification is that of the German DIN Standard 8582, in which processes are classified according to the instantaneous internal stresses which cause yielding in the material.
